A good cross-section of Elk Point's population congregated at the Elk Point Fire Hall on Monday, October 7 for the Fire Prevention Week Open House.

Visitors were invited to take a look at firefighting equipment and to view a fire safety video, as well as a display of locally available smoke alarms and household fire extinguishers, before they gathered outside to watch the firefighters extricate three "victims" from a simulated vehicle rollover (see Pages 6 and 7), and then to see the firefighters extinguish gasoline, diesel fuel and motor oil fires with both Purple K and baking soda extinguishers. The baking soda is used for practices because it is much cheaper than the Purple K chemical.

A special guest at the open house was Jay Elliott, a sales representative of a fire and safety firm, who demonstrated an amazingly efficient infrared camera used in locating fire victims.

FIGHTING PETROLEUM FIRES was a colorful part of the open house demonstration. Here, a firefighter prepares to extinguish burning gasoline with a spray of baking soda.

Challenges of proposed changes are effective representation

Electoral Boundaries Commission recommendation would increase constituency size

By Michelle Huley

St. Paul Journal Staff

Potential changes to the Lac La Biche St. Paul constituency could make it tougher for its MLA to effectively represent his constituents.

"The challenges are representation," said MLA Ray Danyluk. To be able to communicate, to get into the community. It gets tougher."

Proposed changes announced by the Electoral Boundaries Commission last month would see the Lac La Biche St. Paul constituency become much larger.

"It's much bigger," Danyluk said. "The square mileage is close to doubling."

The change would see the county of St. Paul divided into three different constituencies, with Elk Point divided as well.

"A municipality having to deal with three MLA's is really tough," Danyluk stressed. He said some of the challenges facing the county if divided would be in regard to bilateral agreements already in place in areas such as fire and ambulance, and to boards such as school boards.

"It creates a more cumbersome situation for representation.

"Overall, my major concern is we would be losing rural representation. Rural Alberta is such an intricate part of this province, and it's so diversified. We have agriculture, industry, fishing and hunting, forestry. It's such a vibrant part of the province, and it needs effective representation."

"We can't look at this as an individual riding's representation by their MLA. We have to look at the representation in the long run. What we suffer from in rural Alberta is adequate representation."

He said the constituency currently has 18 municipalities and boards within it. "Each and every one has unique and individual concerns that need timely representation."

Danyluk stressed the changes are at this time proposed, and public participation is being sought before any changes will be made law. And the proposed changes could have been worse.

"We could have been broken up a lot worse."

The commission will begin accepting written submissions from the public Nov. 15.

RCMP cracking down on impaired drivers this month

By Cst. Sheldon Hynes

Elk Point RCMP

During the month of September the Elk Point RCMP Detachment focused on speeding in the town of Elk Point as part of its monthly S.T.E.P. (Selective Traffic Enforcement Program) initiative. While some warnings were given and charges laid, indications are that the majority of motorists in town abide by the local speed limits. However, motorists must continue to be aware of the 30 km/h speed limit in town playground zones as the RCMP will be paying particular attention to these areas in coming months.

For the month of October, the focus will shift to the serious and costly concern of impaired drivers. Elk Point RCMP members will be out in full force attempting to discourage and apprehend any drivers impaired by alcohol. Local bar owners and customers can anticipate increased patrols and checkpoints. There will also be more attention paid to rural roads and other areas that have been at times used by impaired drivers as a means of escaping police visibility. Anyone convicted of impaired driving in the Province of Alberta will face a minimum $800 fine and a one year driving prohibition to go along with the negative effects of a criminal record. Individuals convicted of subsequent offenses receive larger fines, increasing lengths for driving prohibition and quite often, jail time. People are reminded to always plan ahead for sober drivers or alternate means of transportation if drinking is anticipated and never attempt to judge whether or not you are OK to drive. Don't drink and drive!

COMMUNITY CONSULTATION

A first impression that doesn't last

Seismic equipment is lowered by helicopter to reduce impact on the forest.

Source: Dennis McEachern, Venture Helicopters

OIL AND GAS SEISMIC CREWS WANT YOU TO THINK they're not working. More succeed every year because exploration companies have started to use low impact seismic techniques that make less of an imprint on the environment.

Seismic exploration is the first step in searching for oil and gas. It is done over large areas of the existing boreal forests of Western Canada. Low impact techniques minimize environmental effects by reducing ground disturbance, varying the path of equipment through the forest, and using existing natural trails.

According to Cliff Wallis of the Alberta Wilderness Association, these techniques are "an effective way of reducing impacts."

Petro-Canada recently received glowing reviews from Alberta Environment for its "under-canopy" survey work near Fort McMurray.

The only mark that the Petro-Canada crew left in the bush was a crooked walking trail and some auger holes. This approach leaves little trace of the survey, saves trees and commercial lumber, and preserves natural forest cover for animals.

In situations where it's possible to use low impact seismic exploration, industry has been very successful in reducing environmental effects.

Sour gas safety update

SOUR GAS AND PUBLIC SAFETY IS SOMETHING Albertans take very seriously. In response to public concerns about sour gas development, an independent committee formed by the Alberta Energy and Utilities Board (EUB) made 87 recommendations to improve the understanding, handling and regulation of sour gas. The EUB, with help from its many stakeholders, including industry, have made real progress on more than half of the recommendations, and 14 are already complete.

The recommendations reflect the thinking and concerns of residents in every part of the province.

In Pincher Creek, committee members heard the EUB must apply its regulations consistently. Grande Prairie and Leduc residents stressed that sour gas pipelines must be safe. First Nations and Métis communities everywhere called for better emergency response planning and consultation that respects their cultural uniqueness and traditional lands.

Paul Jackson, who lives near Calgary, served on the committee from the beginning. He and his young family lived close to a proposed sour gas well and he had concerns for their future health and safety.

"At first I was skeptical that such a large, diverse committee could function effectively, and initially the process was not smooth. However, once the participants settled down, their differences fell away. It was amazing how well they worked toward constructive solutions."

Jackson says, "Everyone realized this was a golden opportunity to create positive change that would be to everyone's benefit. And that's what pretty much happened. The implementation of our recommendations strengthened the regulations in the interests of public health and safety while meeting the need for industrial growth."

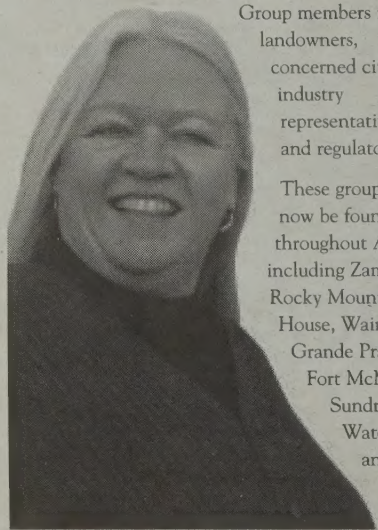

Synergy works for all

A LOT OF PEOPLE HAVE A STAKE IN OIL AND GAS development in Alberta. That's why more than 40 "synergy" groups across the province are working together to resolve local issues in productive ways. At the heart of a synergy group is the notion that the result of combined effort is greater than what any one person could have achieved on their own.

Each community shapes their group to reflect their particular needs and issues.

Group members include landowners, concerned citizens, industry representatives and regulators.

These groups can now be found throughout Alberta including Zama, Rocky Mountain House, Wainwright, Grande Prairie, Fort McMurray, Sundre, Waterton and Vulcan.

Brooke Baillie, Kathym, Alberta

In 2001, stakeholders including synergy group members, the Alberta Energy & Utilities Board and the Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers collaborated to organize Making Synergy Real - a unique conference focused on working together effectively.

In February 2002, 250 participants from across Alberta gathered in Red Deer to share their experiences. They found themselves celebrating successes from all over the province and learning valuable lessons from their neighbours.

Brooke Baillie, who raises cattle near Kathym is one of those people. She belongs to Residents for Responsible Energy Development. "We've been successful in educating and providing moral support to local people when they have to deal with a new or expanding development. We simply want the petroleum industry to act responsibly when they're working on our land."

CAPP and its member companies support synergy groups because they bring together all sides and focus on finding solutions that lead to responsible development.

Elk Point and District Lions are all set to host their first- ever Casino Night

By Doug Bassett

Elk Point and District Lions Club

"Sorry, can't help you." Have you ever heard a Lion member say that? No, not very often, if ever. The Elk Point and District Lions are almost always willing to help any group or organization in times of need.

Last year alone they donated over $20,000 from their monthly bingo account and other fund raising efforts. Ninety percent of this money came right back into our community.

Just to name a few examples of donations made last year, STARS, Elk Point Parent Nursery, Ukrainian Dance Club, the Scouts, Elk Point Soccer, Elk Point Minor Ball, Elk Point Minor Hockey, A.G. Ross Arena, the Curling Club, the Elk Point Golf Course, F. G. Miller School and various groups in the school, the French Club, the Class of 2003, the Quest program in the Elementary School, Elk Point Leos and so on.

O.K., so what's my point? Coming up in less than two weeks time, the Elk Point and District Lions are hosting the first ever Dinner and Casino Night on Oct 26th. at the Elks Hall. Tickets are $50.00 each. Now, $50.00 may sound like a lot of money, but I should explain how it works. The tickets are a two-part ticket: $25.00 goes towards the dinner and $25.00 goes towards the draw. All the ticket stubs go into the drum. The first ticket pulled wins $50.00, every tenth ticket after that wins $50.00 until the final ticket, number 200 pulled out of the drum, wins the grand prize of $1000.00 The Casino itself is all set up by an organization from Edmonton that brings in the roulette wheels and blackjack dealers.

Sometimes, you hear people say, there's nothing to do around here. Well, here's your chance for a night out, have a great meal, have some fun, a chance to win money, and at the same time support your own community. Get your tickets today from any Lions member.

RCMP seeks culprits in two recent thefts

On September 21, Elk Point RCMP received a complaint of a theft from a vehicle. The vehicle was parked in a back yard between 50 and 51 Avenues just west of 51 Street. Stolen were two purses and four jackets. Three of the jackets are described as follows: one man's leather jacket, one lady's black pleather jacket that reverses to grey, one Snap-on Tools jacket.

Anyone found in possession of these or any stolen articles, regardless of whether or not they stole the item(s), may be charged under the Criminal Code for possession of stolen property.

Between the hours of 9:00 p.m./ on the evening of August 16 and 4:00 a.m. on the morning of August 17, suspect(s) broke into a trailer in the area of 56 Avenue and 50 Street in Elk Point. Stolen from the residence was a large amount of coins, mostly $1 and $2 denominations. The owner estimates the loss at approximately $1500 - $1800.

Many of the coins were in plastic cups except for a $1 shaped bank that contained several hundred $1 coins.

Anyone with information regarding any of the above crimes, or any other crime, is asked to contact the RCMP in Elk Point at 780-724-3964 or Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-TIPS (8477).

Thanks, hockey heroes

As another hockey season hits the ice tonight, let's take a moment to give thanks for all the volunteers, past and present, who have made, and who do make, this exciting and entertaining sport possible in our community.

Many years ago now, a group of tremendously dedicated volunteers decided that Elk Point needed an indoor arena, and set about raising funds and putting in the "sweat equity" that made the most-used recreation building in town a reality. Over the years, these recreation pioneers have been followed by a steady procession of like-minded individuals who wouldn't give up until the facility had artificial ice, a huge addition which included dressing rooms and a large, bright meeting room, and even a ceiling to keep the cold in and the condensation off the ice. Now they do constant upgrades to keep the arena up to snuff, as well as fundraising and working bingos to keep the doors open and the lights and ice plant on.

Then there are all the volunteers who have coached and managed the minor hockey teams over the years, some of the players they coached growing up to, in turn, coach another generation of players. Coaching hockey is a time-consuming and sometimes thankless task, but they keep right on encouraging our community's youth to grow in skill and sportsmanship.

Thanks to every one of the volunteers who made it all possible, as the tradition continues.

Have your say in the education of our province's children

October 11, 2002 — Alberta's Commission on Learning wants to hear your views and ideas for the future of Kindergarten to Grade 12 education in Alberta.

To help guide their discussion with Albertans, the Commission has produced a workbook, titled "Doing Our Homework". This workbook provides some background information on the province's education system today and invites you to respond to a series of important questions about its future.

If you would like to complete and submit a workbook, you can do so electronically on the Commission's website at www.learningcommission.gov.ab.ca. If you do not have Internet access, printed copies are available at schools, school board offices and at my constituent cy office. Workbooks can also be ordered directly from the Commission by calling (780)

427-3434. Dial 310-0000, to be connected toll free from anywhere in Alberta.

If you are interested in publicly presenting to the Commission, they will be in our part of the province on December 3, 2002 in Vermilion. You must submit a request to present in writing to the Commission by November 15, 2002. More information is available on the Commission's website and will be published in local newspapers.

The area in the workbook for feedback includes 26 questions covering a wide range of topics. There is plenty of room for comments as well as some statements that you can choose to agree or disagree on. The questions are broken down into eight different categories including issues affecting classrooms, students, curriculum, transition between schools and the workforce, and governance.

I know of many constituents who have exposed their opinions on our education system. Now is the time to share these views. The education of our children is a very important issue, so I encourage you to complete a workbook. The information you provide will help the Commission as it prepares to make recommendations to the Minister of Learning.

Historical Society plans art book

Artists past and present from Elk Point and surrounding districts could soon receive recognition in a new volume planned by the Elk Point Historical Society.

The Society has developed a fledgling book publishing division, which has turned out a number of family and local-interest histories, and has several more in the offing.

Now they want to spread their wings and try something new: a book which would include a brief introduction to each artist, along with color photos of their work. How many artists will be included will depend on how many artists, or families of the artists of the past, express an interest in being part of the book.

Another future project for the Society is to gather tapes and recordings of some of the old bands who played in the area, and turning their work into compact discs. Quite a few of the bands of past generations had their music recorded on the old reel-to-reel recorders or on records, and Historical Society member Marvin Bjornstad feels this material should be preserved for posterity, and made available to entertain another generation of listeners.

The Historical Society is also planning to add a series of maps from 1924 to their website, which is accessed by people near and far who wish to delve into Elk Point's history.

The Elk Point Historical Society's next meeting is scheduled for Monday, October 21, and new members are always welcome. Call Marvin Bjornstad at 724-2061 (evenings) for more details on the meeting and projects.

Does your club or organization have news to share? The Elk Point Review would be happy to help you spread the word. Give Vicki Brooker a call at 724-4087.

Thanksgiving weekend is over

Yes, it is true, Thanksgiving weekend is over. How did you all do? Hope you were all able to enjoy all the special food and fellowship with family and friends that goes with the Thanksgiving celebration.

Did you know that the first Thanksgiving Day in Canada after Confederation was observed on April 15, 1872? It was observed on that day because it celebrated the recovery of the Prince of Wales (later King Edward VII) from a serious illness. From 1879 to 1898, it was observed on a Thursday in November. In 1899, it was fixed on a Thursday in October, where it stayed until 1907, with the exception of 1901 and 1904 when the date was fixed on a Thursday in November. From 1908 to 1921, it was observed on a Monday in October, the exact date being appointed by proclamation each year. Then in 1931, the second Monday of October was fixed at the Thanksgiving Day by proclamation.

Now that Thanksgiving is over, let me ask you the big question. Do you have leftover turkey? From the cookbook, "Allrecipes" Tried & True Quick & Easy, submitted by Linda on the 'net, here is a recipe for Turkey Pot Pie. Ingredients:

- 1 recipe pastry for a 10-inch double-crust pie
- 4 tablespoons butter, divided
- 1 small onion, minced
- 2 stalks celery, chopped
- 2 carrots, diced
- 3 tablespoons dried parsley
- 2 teaspoons dried oregano
- salt and pepper to taste
- 2 cubes chicken bouillon
- 2 cups water
- 3 potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 1 1/2 cups cubed cooked turkey
- 3 tablespoons all-purpose flour
- 1/2 cup milk.

- Directions: (1) preheat oven to 425° F. Roll out bottom pie crust, press into a 10 inch pie pan and set aside. (2) Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a large skillet over medium heat, add the onion, celery, carrots, parsley, oregano, salt and pepper. Cook and stir until vegetables are soft. Stir in the bouillon and water. Bring mixture to a boil. Stir in the potatoes and cook until tender but still firm. (3) In a medium saucepan, melt the remaining 2 tablespoons butter. Stir in the turkey and flour. Add the milk and heat through. Stir the turkey mixture into the vegetable mixture, and cook until thickened. Cool slightly, then pour mixture into the unbaked pie shell. Roll out the top crust, and place on top of filling. Flute edges, and make four slits in the top crust to let out steam. (4) Bake in the preheated oven for 15 minutes. Reduce oven temperature to 350° F and continue baking for 20 minutes, or until crust is golden brown.

BLOCKING is placed at the front and rear corners of the rolled vehicle's roof to keep it from tipping further.

STABILIZING THE ROLLOVER - (above) training officer Jay McNeill (far right) directs firefighters as they stabilize the underside of the rolled vehicle with a large jack after securely blocking the roof side.

OPENING ACCESS to the rollover victims, Dean Rogal (above, center) cuts the front roof post with the Jaws of Life as another firefighter shines a powerful flashlight on the cutting site and a third man offers encouragement to the victims inside.

Rollover rescue demo a highlight of Open House

The simulated rescue of three trapped accident victims from a vehicle rolled on its side was a featured attraction at last Monday's Fire Prevention Week Open House at the Elk Point Fire Hall.

The 'victims,' who had first helped to heave the compact car up on its side, crawled in through the hatchback and hunkered down to wait as training officer Jay McNeill told the remaining members of the crew the hatchback was now wedged shut, and "you'll have to get them out another way."

"Another way" involved carefully blocking the bottom edge of the roof so the vehicle could not tip over further, and then wedging a jack against the car's underpinnings so it could not tip back the other way.

A growing crowd watched as the firemen carefully broke out the vehicle's windshield, covered the victims with blankets before removing glass from the other windows, and cut each of the roof supports with the Jaws of Life and a whining but efficient power saw, before grabbing hold and prying the roof open like a giant sardine can.

Elk Point and District Ambulance owner and operator Fred Lambright was on the scene with stretchers, assisted in placing neck braces on the victims and supervised the use of back boards to prevent further spinal cord injury before helping to ease the very cramped victims carefully out of the crumpled wreckage.

Agriculture and Food Week,

October 13-19

Dear Friends:

During Agriculture and Food Week, October 13 to 19, we celebrate harvest and the many people who drive Alberta's agriculture and food industry. It's an important time of the year, and one the Alberta government is very proud to be associated with.

But really, harvest is a daily event.

Everyday, a whole team of producers, processors, researchers, inspectors, distributors, foodservice operators and retailers is providing safe, premium food to Canadians and consumers in over 110 different countries. Together, they represent Alberta's agriculture and food industry - a leading contributor to our provincial economy and Canada's positive trade balance. Alberta's agri-food industry represents $18.2 billion in primary and value-added products as well as tens of thousands of jobs in Alberta.

We know this year has been a difficult one for our industry. However, we also know that perseverance is the heart of the industry. In the face of this year's adverse conditions, producers have shown us resilience, adaptability, and innovation. This government and all Albertans thank you. As farmers, we always look to next year as being better - this year more than most.

This fall please join us in our celebration of, and our heartfelt thanks to, an industry that is truly growing Alberta.

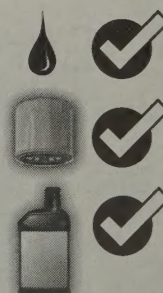

Sincerely,

Shirley McClellan

what's NEWS at the LIBRARY?

Celebrate Library Week from October 20 to 26, 2002

By Daphne Schnurer
Librarian

Library Week has been celebrated in Alberta since 1997 and is the perfect time to get reacquainted with your library. This year, libraries across Alberta are once again celebrating with their communities the dynamic role libraries play in the lives of Albertans. Check with your library about special events or programs for Library Week and join in the fun!

The Library Week

Challenge:

Revisit your library and get acquainted with the books, videos and magazines you have been dying to read and to watch.

Talk to your librarian -- ask her about her job and what she does in her spare time. You may be surprised by what you find out about the secret lives of Alberta's librarians.

Get a TAL Card. You will be able to borrow books from any TAL Card participating library just by walking in and showing your card, no extra fees, not hassle.

Visit a library bigger than the Library of Congress by surfing TAL Online Take a look at over 230 library collections across Alberta from one easy-to-use search engine.

Volunteer. Ask about how you can work with your community. Libraries have lots of volunteer opportunities, from working with children to to working with technology. It's a great way to learn new things and get involved in your community.

The library is truly a dynamic and energetic place, constantly adapting to meet the needs of our technology-based world and the needs of the individuals in our communities. Visit your library today and start a new adventure!

Your library has really changed!

It's no longer the stereotypical "quiet zone" you may recall. Instead, it is a dynamic, energetic environment that keeps pace with the world of 24-7, rapid information.

Your library has services that you may never have imagined could exist. You can search 232 library catalogues province-wide from any Internet connection. You can borrow books from libraries around the province, easily, through your own library. Kids can take part in online reading adventures or be creative in arts and crafts. You can find your favorite books, movies and magazines at your library. But best of all, you can find every piece of information you ever wanted by simply asking your librarian how to find it. Librarians love to help you find what you need.

So whether it's information for a term paper or a business presentation, or just a novel to read for fun, your library really is your complete information solution.

FGM Crusaders stamp out poverty

By Carol Lee

F. G. Miller High School

With community support, the F. G. Miller Crusaders hope to "Stamp Out Poverty."

Crusaders International is a small but eager group that has formed within the school. It is composed of students and staff advisors dedicated to helping youth in developing countries. Through programs like OXFAM-Canada's "Stamp Out Poverty" program and Samaritan's Purse's "Operation Christmas Child," we hope to foster hope, health and happiness in our fellow travelers in the global community.

The "Stamp Out Poverty" program was developed by OXFAM-Canada and is supported by volunteers all across Canada. It has been ongoing since 1980 and has raised over $130,000 - all from recycling stamps. Because the program is volunteer-based, virtually all the monies raised go directly to OXFAM-Canada projects. Through the years, the organization has integrated community health care in El Salvador, organized green zone agricultural cooperatives in Mozambique, provided seeds and water development in Namibia and Zimbabwe, set up rural health and community environment projects in Peru and several other projects in developing countries. OXFAM-Canada also promotes fair trade between producer groups overseas and consumers in Canada through its alternative trading organization, Bridgehead Inc.

Crusaders International will be collecting used stamped envelopes, foreign stamps, Canadian stamps, commemorative stamps, clearly identifiable town/village postmarks, and registered/special delivery postmarks.

This is where we need your help. Please save the above for Crusaders International. When you have enough to make it worthwhile, please drop them off at the F. G. Miller High School Library. Our group will cut, sort and forward the stamps to OXFAM. These stamps are then sold to collectors. Last year, $10,000 was raised by the used stamp program. An incredible amount for just a bunch of used stamps!

Are you good at guessing? If so, you may win yourself a jar of Mojo candies. Crusaders International, with the sponsorship of the Students' Union, are having a guessing contest to encourage students and community members to bring in their stamps. Five used stamps gets you one entry to guess how many Mojos are in the jar. The closest guess will win the Mojos on April 29, 2003. So stop by the library with your stamps and take a guess.

The Crusaders will also be participating in the Operation Christmas Child program this winter. Students will be informed of the items needed for the boxes in late October, but the deadline for the boxes will be November 15, 2002. This early date is essential because the boxes from Canada will be destined for Central America. Operation Christmas Child boxes will be available from Mrs. Margaret Modin of the Elk Point Baptist Church for community members who wish to be involved. Crusaders can receive their boxes directly from the school.

If you have any questions about Crusaders International, the Stamp Out Poverty program, or Operation Christmas Child, please call Carol Lee at 724-3966 between 8:00 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.
